

Putting plastic in its place

The ACE Plastics group is planning a series of activities to help reduce plastic waste in and around Aylsham.

By enlisting the support and interest of various groups in the community, the “Putting plastic in its place” project is aimed at promoting local awareness and holding events like litter cleans, flea markets and competitions.

The project is aimed for a September launch, when school communities and uniformed groups are back.

Activities will not be strenuous or time-consuming, but it is hoped they will be thought-provoking, eye-catching challenges. Creative energies will be acknowledged and rewarded in an arranged, publicised celebration event.

School community challenges will include art and graphic design, poster artwork, cartoon-slogan competitions, photographic and video imagery, prose and poetry writing, performance arts sketch and public speaking.

The community uniformed groups will be set tasks of organising and delivering a Community Litter Clean, designing a collage entitled ‘Not wanted . . .’ for display and a poster on ‘How to reduce waste’ which would go towards their environment award badge scheme.

In both communities, schools and uniformed groups, recognition and reward events would be sponsored by the Rotary Club of Aylsham.
